

Dateline Pittsburgh: 3/17/04

Wednesday, March 17, 2004

Compiled by Natalie Hill

Awards/Honors

Dr. Mohammad A. Zaidi, chief technical officer and vice president, Alcoa, is profiled in a new United Nations-sponsored book "IIT [Institute of Technology]: India's Intellectual Treasures," written by Suvarna U. Rajguru and Ranjan Pant (www.indusmedia.net). Susan Spor, a health-care representative with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, completed her Certified Medical Representative certification program. Henderson Brothers Inc. was named one of the "100 Best Places To Work in Pennsylvania." The firm was just one of five in Allegheny County recognized for the honor and placed 16th overall (on a list of 50 companies) in the medium-size category -- firms with 50 to 250 employees. Junior Achievement of Southwest Pennsylvania Inc. celebrated its 16th Annual Spirit of Enterprise Dinner & Awards Ceremony at the Westin Convention Center Hotel. Honored were: Presenting Sponsor, Equitable Resources Inc., Murry S. Gerber, dinner chairman; Business Hall of Fame Laureate, Richard A. Stafford, Allegheny Conference on Community Campos Market Research Inc.; Community Leader of the Year, Gregory R. Spencer, Randall Enterprises LLC; Impact Company of the Year, Pittsburgh Steelers, Arthur J. Rooney II; Good Neighbor of the Year, Fred Rogers, Family Communications Inc., accepted by David Newell (who played Mr. McFeely)